Important information:

When conducting the online examination, the university is dependent on the proper behaviour of the examination participants and must trust that there will be no attempts at cheating. For this reason, breaches of order that are undertaken contrary to the declaration of independence are generally considered to be a particularly serious case of attempted cheating in accordance with § 18 of the General Part of the bachelor's and master's degree examination regulations and in accordance with § 42, Para. 4 BremHG. As a rule, students who repeatedly or in a particularly serious way commit an attempt to deceive will be withdrawn from studies.

Copyright notice:

The teaching materials and examination tasks (assignment / sample solutions) are protected by copyright. Any use outside the specific teaching and examination context (e.g. by uploading to platforms, printing in lecture notes, passing on to other students or other third parties - printed, digitally or orally) is not permitted and is punishable by law. Furthermore, it may lead in particular to claims for injunctive relief and damages.
